Description:
The product list maintains the list of products entered and builds a product map with ID to product object. It also maintains a list of items for each product.
Also, product list contains the methods to provide search, restock, adding, and getting items for these features.
ProductSearch contains search menu for user interaction.
Restock provides menu for restocking items.